Curiosity overcomes fear A little blue bird is afraid to learn to fly, but is still very curious about the world beyond his nest. "Mama, mama, what is out there?" he asks. "Nothing," his mother replies. "Now go to sleep." But the little bird can't stop thinking about what his mother said. What is this nothing? Finally, curiosity draws the little bird from his nest into the wonders of the great outside world - and he learns to fly. When he returns, his family asks him, "What happened?" "Nothing!" replies the little blue bird, happily. With his characteristically expressive and richly textured illustrations, Tomek Bogacki - whose fables for the very young have been likened to those of Leo Lionni - shows how a little bird, in his search for nothing, finds everything.

REVIEW OF HARCOURT TROPHIES 4TH GRADE COMPREHENSION TEST

- The book provides sufficient detail of a number of trusts and does so in a very readable manner. That is, the text is clear and well written. Although the book is an overview of trusts, it does a good job of providing sufficient detail of each trust discussed so as to be useful rather than being just a recognition that certain trusts exist. For instance, it details differences between simple and complex trusts without getting overly technical or legal, but provides enough information so one could make such a determination. The book discusses transferring assets to a trust, Grantor's and Fiduciary's rights and powers, Distributions, Tax Consequences of Trusts, explanations of different types of Trusts, and Trust termination.

- Tom - What can I say. You caught our eye with BUFFALO SOLDIERS, and end this great series with an outstanding book. HONOR and HERITAGE are two words that come to mind when I read this book. Not only does Argonne fall in love with me, he tells the Sharps' family history. The Sharps have left a LEGACY for generations. My twins - Robert and Rashad will begin to read BUFFALO

SOLDIERS soon, as part of "Dad's Mandatory Reading List". Tom Willard has told a story over a 100 years that no one else could have. You are a great friend and a great American. Thanks for everything. HOOAH!!!!
