"O'Reilly Media, Inc."

With 28 new chapters, the third edition of The Practice of System and Network Administration innovates yet again! Revised with thousands of updates and clarifications based on reader feedback, this new edition also incorporates DevOps strategies even for non-DevOps environments. Whether you use Linux, Unix, or Windows, this new edition describes the essential practices previously handed down only from mentor to protégé. This wonderfully lucid, often funny cornucopia of information introduces beginners to advanced frameworks valuable for their entire career, yet is structured to help even experts through difficult projects. Other books tell you what commands to type. This book teaches you the cross-platform strategies that are timeless! DevOps techniques: Apply DevOps principles to enterprise IT infrastructure, even in environments without developers Game-changing strategies: New ways to deliver results faster with less stress Fleet management: A comprehensive guide to managing your fleet of desktops, laptops, servers and mobile devices Service management: How to design, launch, upgrade and migrate services Measurable improvement: Assess your operational effectiveness; a forty-page, pain-free assessment system you can start using today to raise the quality of all services

Design guides: Best practices for networks, data centers, email, storage, monitoring, backups and more

Management skills: Organization design, communication, negotiation, ethics, hiring and firing, and more

Have you ever had any of these problems? Have you been surprised to discover your backup tapes are blank? Ever spent a year launching a new service only to be told the users hate it? Do you have more incoming support requests than you can handle? Do you spend more time fixing problems than building the next awesome thing? Have you suffered from a botched migration of thousands of users to a new service? Does your company rely on a computer that, if it died, can't be rebuilt? Is your network a fragile mess that breaks any time you try to improve it? Is there a periodic "hell month" that happens twice a year? Twelve times a year? Do you find out about problems when your users call you to complain? Does your corporate "Change Review Board" terrify you? Does each division of your company have their own broken way of doing things? Do you fear that automation will replace you, or break more than it fixes? Are you underpaid and overworked? No vague “management speak” or empty platitudes. This comprehensive guide provides real solutions that prevent these problems and more!

REVIEW OF PRO

LINUX SYSTEM ADMINISTRATION

N

- If I ever sniff out a chick following a "planned strategy" or seemingly intentionally being disinterested, she gets tossed. No guy with any type of game should accept any drama. For you girls that rock the boat, thats the easiest way to fall out of it or get kicked out of it. Nice try, but girls need to trust their instincts, not the advice of an author no self respecting guy would even date.
- If you met someone, and they invited you out with him and his friends and seems very interested in you: Do you think that if I accepted the invite the first three times, that I will have not played by the rules and ruined my chances? I have not initiated anything, but I wonder if I played too easy to get by accepting these invites. I saw him and his friends Thursday night, and a week later on the next Thursday night, then Sunday night. We couldn't stop talking on both those thursday nights and I wish I would have said "oh I have to go" on Thursday night instead of enjoying our conversation so much. Sunday he invited me to a superbowl party and I talked to everyone and not him as much that time. Which makes me think I shouldn't have accepted. He knew I was studying and that I came after half time because I got enough done. What can I do now, based on the rules?: I JUST started reading this book so I have no idea. This guy is recently unengaged, so I don't think this guy is pursuing me, but I do think he is attracted to me and interested in me--so it's a unique situation where I don't expect him/want him to start with dating. He is healing, and I am healing, and it's just a friendship for now. He does seem like the type to believe in the male being the pursuer. My main question is: if I maybe was a little too eager to accept, is it fixable? Should I try to drop something into the conversation that says something along the lines of "right now I really like just hanging out with friends and meeting new people, which is why I go out with you and your friends and am doing the same with my other friends, but I'm not interested in dating right now."....is that a good way for me to play hard to get and cover my tracks? I want to back track a little.
