REVIEW OF NSSAF STUDY GUIDE BUILDING SKILLS

- I didn't like this book it was way too confusing, I don't think teachers should make kids read this book it is definitely not a kids kind of book.

- Fahrenheit 451 is a book set in the future that every page goes on and on and you find that you are still on that same page because you have fallen asleep. This story has some characters that are very different from each other. The main character Montag, who is a fireman who burns books instead of stopping fires, is very different from his wife Millie. His wife just watches TV all day and they call the actors their "cousins". Also there are so many different things that happen that you can't really keep up with them and you can't really understand it because you can't understand what the characters do. The plot does not really make sense, it is about people who burn books and let me tell you it isn't very fun to read. I think that the book is creative, but the author should use something else to go with this story. The vocabulary was pretty good and he used good sentences, but they got confusing and you find yourself doing nothing with this book. The book just goes on and on and then you find yourself wanting to burn it like the fire fighters do. I would say that I recommend this book to probably no one because it isn't fun to read, you fall asleep during it and you can never feel suspended. People who like Sci-Fi stuff might, but it isn't really Sci-Fi either.
