REVIEW OF CALIBANS WAR EXPANSE 2 JAMES SA COREY

- I have purchased this book as my profesor advised me to. I liked reading this book and for my career, I know that I am going to reference it a lot. It is easy to read for a student and in my opinion it gives great professional tips.
- The classic text of the Frankfurt School remains the most ambitious attempt to synthesize the tools of Marxism and Freudian Psychoanalysis for the project of critical theory. Horkheimer and Adorno have attempted to construct nothing less than a critique of the entire logic of modern domination, immanent within the project of the eighteenth century Enlightenment. Through a highly sophisticated, nuanced analysis of Ancient Greek Myth (with a particularly fascinating exegesis on Homer), Horkheimer and Adorno proceed to interrogate the logics of key Enlightenment thinkers such as Kant and Sade in an effort to further interrogate the "culture industry." Standout analyses of the text include the chapter on anti-semitism and the limits of enlightenment as well as enlightenment as mass deception. While I fundamentally disagree with their argument that the Enlightenment was a project of universalization and technical mastery without self-reflection, I nevertheless see here an intricate, brilliant anatomy of the modern situation.
