REVIEW OF HBRS 10 MUST READS ON COMMUNICATION WITH FEATURED ARTICLE ATHE NECESSARY ART OF PERSUASIONA BY JAY A CONGER

- Not only does this book tell you everything you need to know about networking with Windows 2000 (and networking in general) but it also keeps the NT details at the forefront. This book doesn't abandon NT for Windows 2000, rather it realizes that there will be mixed environments out there and it brings the good, important networking information for both platforms to you. A must have for any network admins or anyone who wants to know about Microsoft networking.

- I have used the 8th edition of this book (with David Noss) as the basis for my lectures on world religion since 1989. It is an excellent overview of the great religions placing them in three categories based on three possible responses to the natural world. I use these groupings in my classes: religions of India, religions of east Asia, and religions of the Middle East. I particularly like the balance between history and belief systems. I have often recommended this book to others and now I realize that I'll have to let them know that it is out of print. Our local library had copies of various editions but they have been stolen! Sorry to hear that a book I thought of as a friend is gone.
