REVIEW OF BOLLYWOOD MOVIE QUIZ QUESTIONS WITH ANSWERS

- I grew up memorizing and reading Alan Alexander Milne's poetry. While this small book has the same whimsical, childish humor and imagination, I must say my favorite poems are all in the first volume, When We Were Very Young, which has favorites such as "The King's Breakfast" and "James James Morrison Morrison" and "John had great big waterproof boots on". This book will tickle your ears and make you smile, but it's not quite my favorite. (Why do I always say "quite" more often after I read these poems?! =)

- I read a lot of books about current affairs; I believe that Blood and Oil by Michael T. Klare is one of the best. The oil issue is mostly overlooked by the press and broadcast media but I believe it is one of the most important issues that will be staring us in the face until we are able to achieve a supply of energy composed of renewable energy resources and transportation vehicles that are more energy efficient, or that run on hydrogen or electric power. To me it is also a message that we cannot go much longer without developing mass transportation for the entire country. The Obama administration has dedicated stimulus money for wind and solar panel energy construction. We need more of that and faster. He has also planned for mass transit which cannot come soon enough to reduce our dependence on oil.

Until we can reduce our dependence on imports of fossil fuels, we will be in jeopardy of continually sending our young men and women to war to maintain our vital supplies. We must begin now to break our dependence. Cheap fuel is like a drug; this country is hooked on it and cannot break the habit. This whole country needs to go to rehab and be rid of our addiction to oil. In the mid-term elections, few people mentioned renewables. Roy Blunt of Missouri made it an issue to use against his opponent whose brother is involved in a wind farm company. That is not what we need; we need to encourage more people to get involved in developing renewable energy resources.
