REVIEW OF CHEMISTRY THE CENTRAL

SCIENCE 8TH EDITION SOLUTIONS

- Antal Szerb challenged the stereotype of the sexes and conventional morality, but he also helped show us that if we conform to society's values then we won't find who we really are. The book is about a man named Mihaly who on his marriage night left his wife and was on a quest to find himself. At a young age he loved a woman named Eva, and Tamas, Eva's brother was his best friend. This is where we see the androgyny of the sexes come into play; Tamas and Mihaly both had feminine characteristics and tended to be very passive. Eva was the aggressive dominating type such as a male's characteristic, and when they were young she would do some weird things to both of them. Tamas was in love with his sister and wanted to be with her, but that wasn't possible so he committed suicide. Mihaly was infatuated with Tamas which creates the idea of homosexuality in the book. Is Mihaly a homosexual? Mihaly, now about age 30, is still a little kid inside searching for himself and has finally realized that he must face reality.

- I first learned Emacs by reading the Tutorial (C-h t). While it suffices to get me started, I notice that there are a large chunk of Emacs I haven't explored and don't know where to start. That's the motivation of my reading this book. Arguably I can learn all the content of the book from Emacs on-line help, but I found that the easy-to-follow, tutorial-like styles of the book is more accessible than reference-style on-line help. The 2nd ed is outdated, though. You should check out the latest Learning GNU Emacs, Third Edition
