The most powerful force in the world economy today is the redefinition of the relationship between state and marketplace - a process that goes by the name of privatization though this term is inadequate to express its far-reaching changes. We are moving from an era in which governments sought to seize and control the 'commanding heights' of the economy to an era in which the idea of free markets is capturing the commanding heights of world economic thinking. Basic views of how society ought to be organized are undergoing rapid change, trillions of dollars are changing hands and so is fundamental political power. Great new wealth is being created - as are huge opportunities and huge risks. Taking a worldwide perspective, including Britain, where the process began with Mrs Thatcher, Europe and the former USSR, China, Latin America and the US, THE COMMANDING HEIGHTS shows how a revolution in ideas is transforming the world economy - why it is happening, how it can go wrong and what it will mean for the global economy going into the twenty-first century.

REVIEW OF ECONOMICS CHAPTER 1 QUIZ

- Just like Look Homeward, Angel, this book tell a story of Wolfe, thus - a story of a true artist, an ideal of what a writer is or should be. It's huge and its sentences span across the pages, but in its magnitude is its beauty. A conclusion to Wolfe's career, You Can't Go Home Again is a powerful testament to the spirit of writing, that never dies, never get dissolved in the mundane reality, that is always flowing like a river and blowing like the wind.

- I found that the first half of the book enjoyable, but the second half not so. From the moment that she meets with the 'Red Indian' troupe the story descends into the unbelievable.
