REVIEW OF 5 STEPS TO A 5 500 AP PHYSICS 1 QUESTIONS TO KNOW BY TEST DAY

- As an old man who has been teaching for nearly 30 years, Ms. Hunter's Waiting for the World to End has been a life saver. Having taught the book to 6 different classes, I have witnessed the power of Ms. Hunter's words for so many students. The impact it has had has been incredible. So many students have come to me in confidence to say that her book has helped them make responsible choices. One student even shared with me how she wished she had read the book sooner for it would have made a huge difference in a choice she had made. Ms Hunter's words are powerful and it is beautifully written. Having read thousand's of books, Ms. Hunter has me re-reading hers for the seventh time. I will be teaching it again this year because it has impacted so many. Bravo Ms. Hunter for the courage, wisdom, and insights that your characters give to its readers. The ending makes us realize we have a choice in securing our own happiness. A wonderful novel. Please write another one soon.

- Dungan's recent publication continues to be simply torn to pieces in peer-reviews in scholarly journals, and for good reason. Dungan's poor and - worse - manipulative use of sources, his sweeping statements lacking justification, and his obvious ignorance of the canonization process (ignoring both Zahn and Harnak) is very concerning. More concerning is that Dungan is a good writer... he easily makes you think that you are reading history, not a fictionalized interpretation with leaping, sweeping conclusions. Trained historians will be dismayed, but others might be duped. For example, the development of a concept of a defined canon, church traditions, hierarchies of leadership, etc., seem to have been created (imposed) simply in medias res as part of Constantine's 'program' following the Edict of Milan (is he confusing Constantine with Theodosius? Is he unaware that Constantine had a co-Emperor? Quite astonishing how something could just change overnight, as Dungan promotes). If you believe Dungan's tones and insinuations, you might get the impression that Constantine built a Christian basilica right in the forum and made himself the Bishop of Rome. Don't waste your time and money. I did, and I now give selections of it to my students as an example of "how not to write an essay in history class."
