REVIEW OF 2001 PT CRUISER CHRYSLER

- John Steinbeck, a Nobel prize winning American author, travels with his beloved canine companion, Charley, from to Maine to West and back East again. This book is in first person narration. I can see why Steinbeck was such a great writer. He writes very clearly and detailed of his observations across the country. There is a lot to see as he drives across country in 1962 in the middle of the Civil Rights movement for African Americans and before John F. Kennedy's assassination in 1963. The most drama was Charley's health at the time. Steinbeck writes about his cross-country journey without overdoing it. He writes for a mainstream public perhaps Americans who don't get the opportunity. He provides very good points that we've lost our local identities because most people don't have regional dialects anymore, people were moving and migrating even back then, and the lack of communication in our society. Steinbeck writes about his thoughts and observations about society as well and where we were going even back then. I wonder what he would think about today with the internet, social websites, etc. For the most part, this is a good book.

- This book is a must for anybody who wants to invest in real estate. I found this book to be not only extremely informative but enjoyable to read. Tom's personality shows in his writing style, but more importantly, his knowledge is easily understood and followed. He makes the steps to the investment process clear to understand and follow. He puts together a step by step process to follow as well as offering the tools to be successful. After I purchased and read the book I sent out my first letters. Within 17 days I had my first client contact me. I am in the process of purchasing a house even as we speak! This is the best value on the market for investing. What makes it even better, after purchasing the book, Tom allows you to call or email him, FREE!! He responds quickly with excellent information to help!
