REVIEW OF CAUSE EFFECT PAPER TOPICS

- My 17 year old daughter is a 3.3 - 3.5 GPA student. She has always done well in the "core" areas (math, science, english) but had little to no experience with electronics, mechanical stuff, automotive, gears, tools, assembling objects and such. I ordered this book for her and had it sent to her (she lives with her mom in another state) to prepare for the ASVAB. She took the book seriously and studied it chapter by chapter - highlighting things she thought important and took the practice tests at the end of each section. She invested 30 days towards studying this book. She took the ASVAB as soon as she turned 17 and scored a 91! Her lowest subject score was an 87. As a result she is qualified for ANY job the US Air Force has to offer. Her opportunities now with the USAF are endless. Buy the book. Give it your honest effort. It's boring and tedious and generally sux but this is YOUR LIFE, your future. What you put into this book you will CERTAINLY get back out of it. ASVAB score 55 = cook (if you're lucky) ASVAB score 75 = pretty good selection but not great. ASVAB score 85+ = Your Choice. Definitely recommend.

- This book is experience. I can understand that the book may be disappointing to a reader who begins it with a lot of expectations, so I suggest approaching it with as few as possible. I was so intrigued by the lives of the characters that I had to force myself to slow down and savor the beautiful language. I couldn't wait for the story to resolve, but didn't want the book to end. I wanted to read it again as soon as I finished. I would also recommend using the family tree (included before the first chapter) early in your reading to help you keep the characters straight. It was very helpful in understanding the nature of some very confusing relationships.
