REVIEW OF SHIPBROKING AND CHARTERING PRACTICE 7TH EDITION

- This is the second book I read on Secretariat. It filled in some gaps from the movie and the first book. I remember the Derby and the Preakness but for the life of me I cannot remember why I missed the Belmont. After having seen the movie and learning of the time period, it raised some interest on my part and I read all I could about the horse, the trainer (Eddie), the Chenery's. I enjoyed this book.
- When I picked up this book, I did not expect it to be so comprehensive in teaching reading and writing. This a small, but powerful book. I expected a few activities as a supplement to other methods. The activities use all five senses and are fun. They incorporate dancing, singing, and sometimes eating. As another reviewer wrote, this may be the only book you may ever need to teach reading! I have a Masters Degree in Education, with focus on literacy and learning disabilities. I have read many books on whole language vs. phonics instruction, but none that incorporated both as well as this one does. The book is divided into 7 sections, each one building on the other as they master it. Within each section, is a list of supplies needed for the activities. This is the only book that I have read that I really have all the supplies necessary to start right away. Then, the actual activities. At the edge of each activity page, there is a box that the author has given some more wonderful information. She has a Reading Zone with books to read to the child to expand on the activities. There is Teaching Time that explains the concept development that the activities focus on. The last, but very important item the author included, is State Standards Say which tells what most states expect of children to know when they are tested in reading at school. Here are the 7 sections (just a small sample of activities included): Let's Talk About It (prereading skills) make a collage, make a sequence crown teaches to identify and sort words, extend vocabulary, following directions, connect to real life experiences Start with Sounds rhyme time, treasure hunt, monster munch recite and produce rhyming words, listen for phonemes in words Print Power! rainbow writing, autograph book, word necklaces distinguish letters from words, learn that print provide information in everyday setting Now I Know My ABC's seating the alphabet, milk-cap mania, alpha-pet learning upper and lower case alphabet, sequencing letters Phonics Fun alphabet crowns, word puzzlers, phonics gizmos learning consonant and vowel sounds, as words change so do sounds Write On! office signs, business cards, stationery, it's in the mail, spell-a-phone identify types of everyday printed materials Beyond the Tale dazzling diagrams, wonder webs, teeny-tiny theater learn to use fiction and non-fiction material, retell stories
