Pharmacists face ethical choices constantly -- sometimes dramatic life-and-death decisions, but more often subtle, less conspicuous choices that are nonetheless important. Among the topics confronted are assisted suicide, conscientious refusal, pain management, equitable distribution of drug resources within institutions and managed care plans, confidentiality, and alternative and non-traditional therapies. Veatch and Haddad's book, first published in 1999, was the first collection of case studies based on the real experiences of practicing pharmacists, for use as a teaching tool for pharmacy students. The second edition accounts for the many changes in pharmacy since 1999, including assisted suicide in Oregon, the purchasing of less expensive drugs from Canada, and the influence of managed care on prescriptions. The presentation of some cases is shortened, most are revised and updated, and two new chapters have been added. The first new chapter presents a new model for analyzing cases, while the second focuses on the ethics of new drug distribution systems, for example hospitals where pharmacists are forced to choose drugs based on cost-effectiveness, and internet based pharmacies.

REVIEW OF REMINGTON PHARMACEUTICAL SCIENCES 21ST EDITION BING

- After reading My Life in France I couldn't wait to read Julie & Julia. I was hoping to read about someone becoming inspired, growing as a person, embracing life ala Julia. Instead the personal account struck me as whiney, self absorbed and uninspiring. What a disappointment!

- East, West contains a wide variety of short story forms - from the classic story telling of Good Advice Is Rarer Than Rubies to the post-modern Yorick. All are well written with plots that have interesting twists and reflect a deep understanding of human relationships. Good Advice Is Rarer Than Rubies is of a charleton giving free advice to a woman seeking a visa to England to join her fiance. His advice turns out to be valuable. The Free Radio depicts both a cultural clash (old/new) on birth control as a way to view dreams - of a free radio, of being a movie star. The Prophet's Hair tells of the theft/loss/theft/loss of the relic of the Prophet ... and the misfortunes accompanying the relic. Yorick is an exploration of Hamlet's motivations based on his childhood relationship with Yorick and his wife. At the Auction of the Ruby Slippers is a fascinating look at society and dreams. Kansas will never be the same. Christopher Columbus and Queen Isabella of Spain Consummate Their Relationship depicts Christopher gaining the financial backing for his voyage and Isabella's unquenchable thirst. The Harmony of the Spheres follows a friendship through the occult, madness, suicide, and truth - the last being, perhaps, the most difficult. Chekov and Zulu - names based on Star Trek - follows two childhood friends through the Indian diplomatic corp, the assassination of Indira Gandhi, and their choices of separate directions. The Courter shows the family and servant relationships of "outsiders" - voluntarily or otherwise - living in London. The Courter is the most poignant of the stories; The Prophet's Hair the most traditional; Christopher Columbus and Queen Isabella of Spain Consummate Their Relationship the most original. This is an excellent collection of short stories. Enjoy.
