As the head chief was awarding Jacob she had also brought up that soon will come pain and hurt which everybody expected Jacob to know because they didn't. Jacob was given an envelope and was told to arrive at a certain place first thing the next morning. The envelope that Jacob had received was one paper with a list of rules that were to be followed or optional. The one rule that he did not want to follow was the one that said he had the right to lie. Jacob was always use to telling the truth as well as the rest of the community. As soon as the morning rose, The Giver started to training Jacob right away. The Giver had told Jacob that he would be known as, "The Receiver," until he was given all memories and all power. After a while of training, The Giver felt like Jacob was ready to become the new Giver, he had told Jacob to use his powers to leave the community as fast as possible without saying goodbye to anybody. This was because the community had to learn how to take control by themselves and learn more painful and confusing things sense they always relied on The Giver. So Jacob and a baby named Gabriel headed for another community. Jacob used his heating memories to keep Gabriel warm. Soon they arrived safely at the community.

- In a perfect world lie dark secrets. In this completely controlled world, a 12-year old boy named Jonas has been chosen to become the communities most honored citizen. He has been chosen to be the Reciever of Memories. Under the teachings of the elder known as the Giver, he learns the dark truth about his perfect community. Battling against the pain and joy ofthe memories he seeks "Elsewhere" so that the community can also experience all of these feelings. In this story, Lowry examines the paranormal as well as a persons' freedom of choice. Soon Jonas learns the price of a perfect world and he decides that he is not the only one that needs to pay this price.
