REVIEW OF A TWO PHASE INTERLEAVED ONE CYCLE CONTROL PFC FOR CHARGER

- While there are many levels to this book (see the reviews below), what particularly appealed to me was its author's call to courage. In short, "Fear of Flying" is inspiring (to me) in that its main character is a very recognizable person who attempts to deal with very recognizable fears and anxieties. I have read it with great enjoyment on more than one occasion, each time being left with new insights and perspectives. Thankyou, Erica Jong.

- So I'm one of those people that got a good score of 1430 but wasn't satisfied. I tried every book under the sun before taking the SAT the second time. I looked at Kaplan's book directed for 1600 scores. I used Barron's ('cause it's the most challenging)... but none of them worked. Then I saw this one, and I looked at the verbal review and was thrilled. I studied using its preparation + 10 Real SATs and scored in the 99th percentile for verbal and 97th for math. I raised my score 130pts. If you're hitting ceilings on your point totals with other books, this one will help you break through and get the score you want. Go for it and PRACTICE with 10 REAL SATS. You'll do so well!
