REVIEW OF OWL MOON

- I give this book 5 stars. I am just a simple 12 year old boy, but this book inspired me. The Giver told me what might be the future. I think 12 year olds should read this book because it makes them use their brains and think. Lois Lowry wrote this book well, except for the dream Jonas had , and the needle in gabs head .

Overall , I thought she had good detail on the memories and how the community was run. It was very intriguing in many ways and no matter what , I was always on my heels because of all the action going on. It taught me some ways of life, and the truth. It made me re-think what I have and what I've got. It was a different book for me because i usually read mystery or murder books but to me this was an "everything" book. It was an ambiguous book that means it makes you decide for yourself. It treats you like an adult so you can make choices. When I first read this book I felt more mature. It is an amazing book , that's why I gave it 5 out of 5 stars. If I were you I would read this book . Lois Lowry is a great writer and I wish she would write a sequel. Treat Lois Lowry and read this book. In my 12 years of life I will say this was one of the best books I have ever read.

- The Giver, by Lois Lowry, was an excellent book. It has medals such as the Newberry Medal and A.L.A. best book. Lowry has written more extraordinary books like The Anastasia series, The Sam series and Number The Stars. The Giver is a science fiction book. Lowry is known through out the world for her wonderful books.The Giver is about a boy named Jonas. Jonas lives in a town where everyone can't see any colors and no one has memories except the Giver. When Jonas became twelve he was picked to be the next giver. If you become the Giver, you are in luck because it is the best job you can get it is also the most honored and biggest job in the city. Some of the memories that Jonas receives are harsh to him. For example a memory of going down a hill on a sled and breaking your leg with a burning hatchet wiping into your leg. But for becoming the receiver he has to learn things he doesn't want to know. After about a year the Giver and Jonas decide that something has to change about the town. So the two of them start to form a plan. The plan involves something he doesn't want to do!The Giver was a very descriptive book. When I was reading it I could tell what every thing looked like or tasted like. It kind of seemed like watching a movie. Also when any body was talking it felt like I was that person. Lowry was so descriptive that I could see an old scar on a persons face. When Jonas was hungry I could feel my stomach ach with hunger.In The Giver the town that Jonas lives in is very strange. In the town every one is the same. Also everyone can't see colors except The Giver and Jonas. Even though every one is the same there can't be doubles of any one or names. So they have to kill old and identical twins. The town is also very cashes. They have important people called elders. The elders make every decision like giving people jobs or giving boy's wife's. The Giver was one of the best books I have ever read. The action the suspense it was all good. I recommend this book to people 12 and older because the lexile is 760 so it might be difficult for kids under 12. There are also some sad and gruesome parts. There are also some inappropriate parts. Personally I could read it again and enjoy it.
