REVIEW OF MATERIALS AND STRUCTURES BY R WHITLOW

- A great read. A peak at a "perfect" home and how it can become not so perfect. I didn't want to put it down.

- This is a utopian story that is written in a style and language understandable by all ages, even those as young as sixth grade. The main idea revolves around the concept of a perfect society and what must be sacrificed in order to achieve that, most significantly personal freedom and expression. A uniform, restricted, colorless, apathetic, malevolent society ironically results from the attempt to create an ideal community. Younger readers may be particularly shocked by the lack of regard for human life.
